It is a great pleasure to me to present a new issue of SHJ. In this issue clinical trials, editorials and interesting case reports from our daily clinical practice are included. Hope will be of interest and benefit to our readers.

It is a pleasant co-incidence that this issue of SHJ comes out at the time of the Pan-African Cardiology meeting in Khartoum. I would hope this would be an opportunity to encourage our cardiology colleagues from Africa and other colleagues participating in the meeting to submit and publish their manuscripts to the journal. They are also sincerely invited to be members of the review board of the journal.

To facilitate this, the journal is published online in a user-friendly website with easy online submission and review of manuscripts.

Enjoy your reading

Editor in Chief, SHJ
